ABOUT ARSA PAC

What is ARSA PAC?

The Aeronautical Repair Station Association Political Action Committee (ARSA PAC) is a special fund designed to allow financial contributions to U.S. House and Senate candidates who support the legislative goals of the civil aviation industry.

Who may contribute to ARSA PAC?

Only executive, management, and administrative employees of ARSA member companies who have given solicitation permission can contribute. These employees must be United States citizens or lawful permanent residents (i.e., "green card" holders). Additionally, ARSA PAC can only accept personal (not corporate) contributions.

Federal campaign finance laws require that companies give permission for its executive, management, and administrative employees to be solicited for PAC contributions. You can give solicitation permission for the next four years, using the Solicitation Consent Form below.

Note that although federal law only requires solicitation consent from incorporated entities, as a matter of policy, ARSA only solicits and accepts contributions from individuals whose companies have provided solicitation consent.

Why is it important for ARSA members to support ARSA PAC?

Legislators in Washington are constantly considering policies that will have a direct impact on your business and on the economy as a whole. It is crucial that ARSA participate in the process of electing those legislators. Personal contributions to ARSA PAC help to ensure that we have the resources necessary to support the appropriate candidates and to have our voice heard in the legislative decision-making process.

How can an ARSA member contribute to ARSA PAC?

ARSA members can join the High Flyers club by contributing $500 or more to ARSA PAC. High Flyer Club members are recognized in the hotline for their leadership and commitment to the industry. Of course, it goes without saying that High Flyers Club members also know they are helping to advance the goals of our industry. Your decision to contribute to ARSA PAC is purely voluntary and any contribution made is appreciated.
